Confirms Status Of SAAF

Assistant Secretary Of War States Field Will be Reactivated For Tactical Training

W. Stuart Symington, Assistant Secretary of War for Air, spoke Monday night, at the Johnson county court house in Warrensburg, before a crowd which overflowed the circuit court room. Mr. Symington devoted the greater part of his talk to the S. A. A. F.

Opening his address, he said, "I am back in Missouri to confirm a recent telegram which I sent to United States Senator Frank P. Briggs, regarding the status of the Sedalia Army Air Field. I am a personal friend and admirer of Senator Briggs, and I felt that maybe you people in the vicinity of Warrensburg, Knob Noster and Sedalia, should know of his active intervention for the field. So I thought it best to come, and make an inspection of the base and inform you people of the facts.

Interested In Base
"I might add, you have a friend in the senator, and ever since he has been in the Senate he has been deeply interested in the future of this base. It is the largest field in the state of Missouri, and probably the only one that is left that can be utilized for post-war training. At the time I wired him regarding its future, we were confident that it would be re-activated by November 1, but due to the great loss of personnel in the air forces, this could not be possible. However, we anticipate re-activation within a short time.

"When the base is reactivated it will be used for tactical training of possibly the light bomber and fighter planes. The importance of the field is that it is so situated that it can be used for the two strategic purposes I have mentioned. The S. A. A. F. is noted for its wonderful flying conditions. It has 92 per cent contact weather, meaning weather conditions where flying can be utilized; six per cent where the weather makes it necessary for instrumental flying, and two per cent wherein no flying can be done. This alone is a big factor in air training.

Field Has Possibilities
"On my inspection I found that S. A. A. F. has great possibilities. The runways are exceptionally good, and from a standpoint of the future it has great possibilities. Let's look at the bad features of the field. There is only one. That is the buildings. However, I firmly believe that something can be worked out so they might be used temporarily until permanent buildings can be erected."

Continuing, Mr. Symington told the audience of the new head of the Tactical Forces, Major General Elwood Quesada, who has a great record as a commander in the European Theater of Operations during the war. He also said that Major General Quesada and himself would return to the Sedalia Army Air Field soon and together would make an inspection.

In closing his address, Mr. Symington said, "I went to Washington at the command of our President Harry S. Truman. He appointed me to the War Department last January, and had it not been for President Truman, I would not have been retained there. Since I have been in Washington and become a part of the working government, I have more affection for President Truman. He is truly a great servant of the people."

Round The World Tour
Mr. Symington, in his talk, told of his round-the-world tour recently, of visiting the atomic bomb testing grounds at Bikini, and of the results seen there, of his visits to Japan, China, Philippine Islands, India, Egypt, Germany, Austria, England and smaller countries.

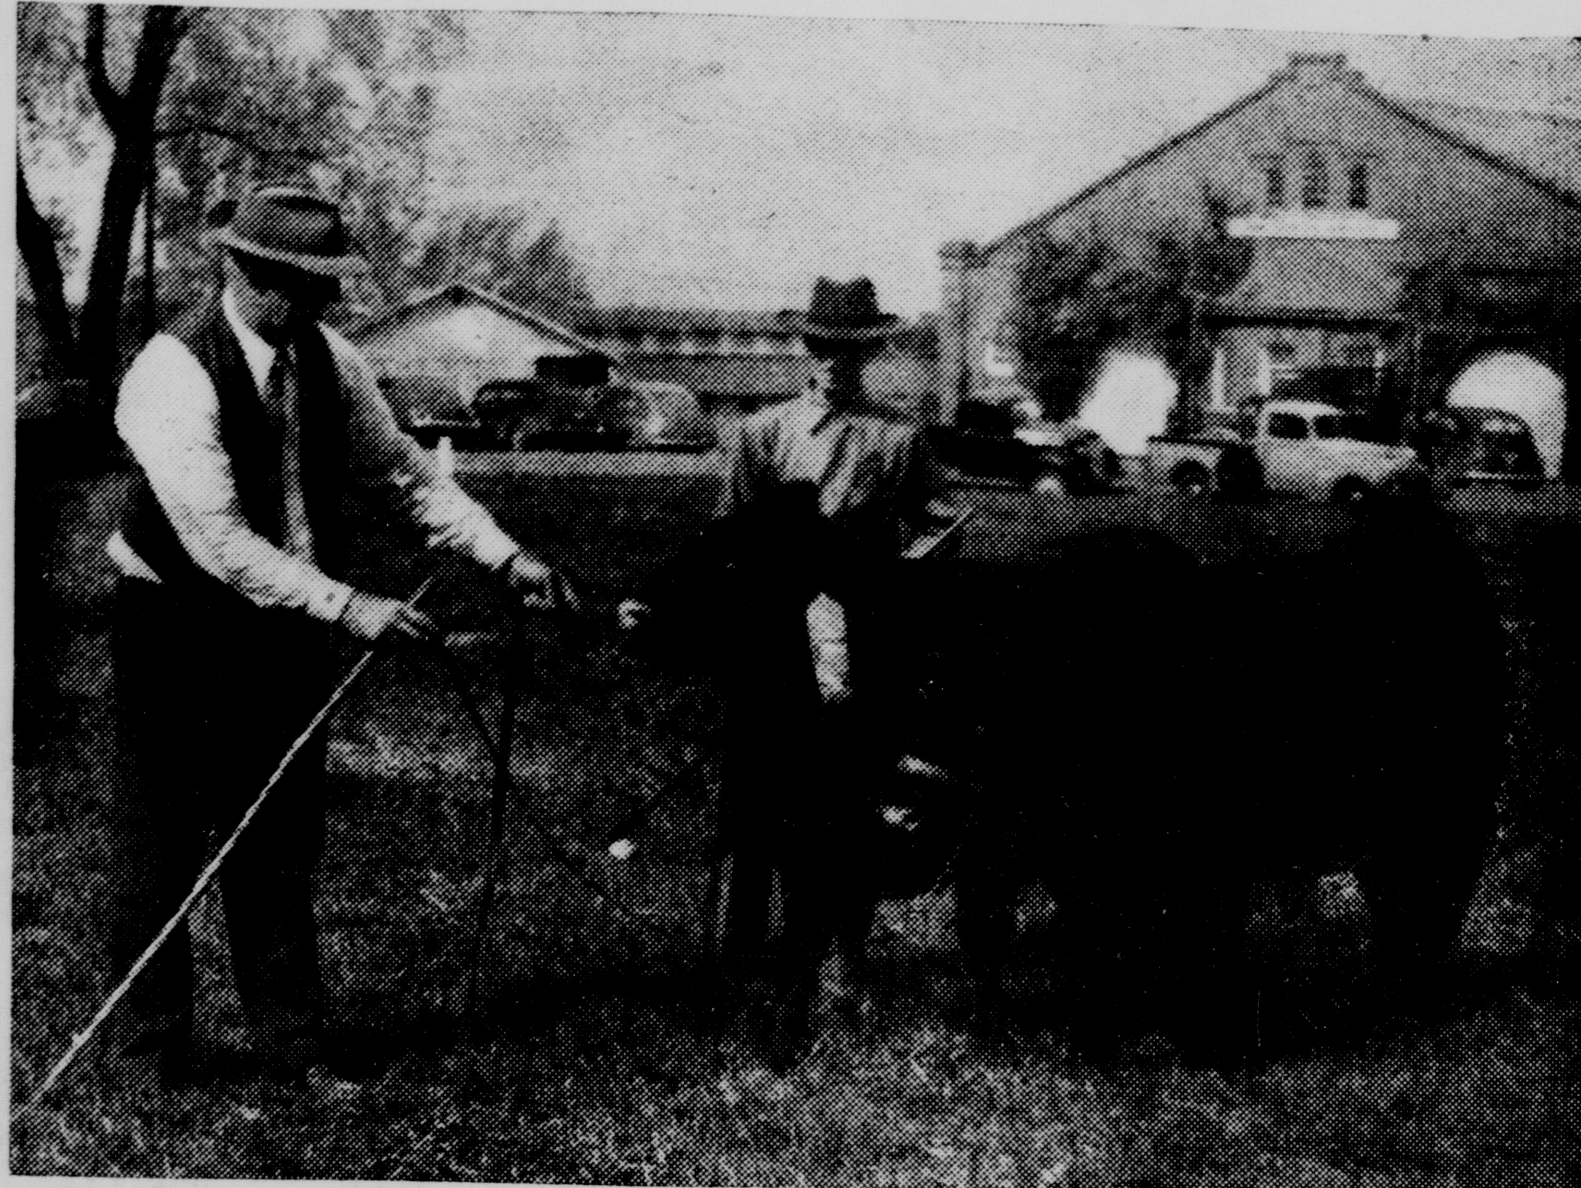

"After seeing the 'I' he said, 'and noting our prosperity, I wonder about the flood of gloom we see loosed here now. We have the greatest farm income in our history and income to corporations and individuals after taxes were never higher.'"

Mr. Symington was introduced by E. C. Houck, an active civic leader of Warrensburg, who has put in much time in the vicinity of the S. A. A. F. and who sought the services of Assistant Secretary Symington in determining the future of the base.

Connell Presides
The meeting was presided over by Ed. Connell, chairman of the Johnson County Democratic committee. Mr. Connell in closing the meeting said, "Mr. Symington did not state that Senator Briggs is a member of the Military Affairs committee, one of the most important committees in Washington. I am telling you this because he can be of great help to us in our work in pleading with the War Department to keep the air base operating."

"If you are interested in your community, Senator Briggs should never be defeated," Mr. Connell

United States To Approach Russia Direct

In Effort to End Controversy Over the Veto

By Max Harrelson

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(P)—The United States delegation disclosed today it would approach Russia directly in an effort to end the controversy over the big power veto, which was sharpened in the United Nations assembly today by Generalissimo Stalin's statement defending the veto.

The assembly delegates looked to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for an expanded declaration of policy in his speech scheduled for 4 p. m. (EST), (3 p. m. CST).

As small nations took the rostrum one after the other to urge limitation of the veto in the Security Council and appeal for big power cooperation, it was reported that U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin was working on a compromise formula which he planned to discuss privately with all the five major powers, including Russia, in an effort to reach an off-the-floor agreement.

The disclosure of the U. S. plans for consultation with the Big Five on the veto question was made in a statement by an American spokesman who denied a published report that the U. S. delegation was working with Great Britain on a compromise formula.

No Announcement Now
The spokesman said Austin would not announce the plan in his speech tomorrow, but probably would bring it up soon at a meeting of the powerful 14-nation general committee.

As the delegates resumed debate in the assembly this morning, they took a wait-and-see attitude on the Stalin statement released last night, but expressed conviction that Molotov would expand the exposition of policy.

"We will just wait and see how Molotov puts it," one big power delegation chief said. He commented on the "timing" of Stalin's replies which were released on the eve of Molotov's major policy address in the assembly.

Stalin's defense of the veto power and its use in the Security Council by the Russian delegation hits squarely against a sharp attack by smaller nations aimed at limiting the knockout voting power of the five major powers.

Atomic Board Is Ready

To Take Over From The Army Task Of Guiding This Country Into Atomic Age

By Marvin L. Arrowsmith
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29

(P)—A five-man board of civilians made ready today to take over from the army the momentous task of guiding this country into the atomic age.

The five—a federal power expert, a physicist, an editor, a retired rear admiral and an investment banker—thus shouldered "responsibilities as great as any men have ever assumed in peacetime."

Those were the words President Truman used in announcing the makeup of the all-powerful new atomic energy commission, headed by David E. Lilienthal as chairman.

"The consequences of our work, for good or evil, are awesome," Lilienthal said, yielding up his chairmanship of the Tennessee Valley Authority to accept the assignment.

With Lilienthal, Mr. Truman selected for the commission set up three months ago by congress: Dr. Robert F. Bacher, 41 year old Cornell university physicist who helped develop the atomic bomb. He is scientific consultant to Bernard M. Baruch, American representative to the United Nations atomic energy commission.

Bank Director
William W. Waymack, 58, editor of the Des Moines Register and winner of the Pulitzer award in 1937 for distinguished editorial writing. He is also a director of both the Chicago Federal Reserve bank and the Carnegie endowment for international peace.

Rear Adm. Lewis L. Strauss, retired, 50, former member of the Army-Navy munitions board, one time secretary to Herbert Hoover and now a partner in the New York banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

Sumner T. Pike, 55, an investment banker who until last March was a member of the securities exchange commission. Pike, whose home is in Lubec, Me., quit the SEC with the explanation, "I'm getting stale."

As Lilienthal's successor as head of the giant TVA, Mr. Truman named Gordon R. Clapp, general manager of the government utility since 1939. Clapp received the appointment, which is effective Nov. 1, on his 41st birthday.

Named Monday
The president announced his selections at a special news conference late yesterday.

He signed legislation creating the commission August 1, then spent 12 weeks searching for men whose "abilities and experience" he believes "will command the confidence of the country."

Churchill Wants Russians to Be Safe, Glorious and Happy

LONDON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Winston Churchill, in a reply to Prime Minister Stalin's new international affairs statement, said today he wished to see the Russian people "safe, glorious and happy."

He said today he welcomed Prime Minister Stalin's statement that there were only 60 Russian divisions in "the territories he mentions."

"But even 60 divisions on a war footing would, of course, greatly exceed the British and American forces in enemy occupied territory in Europe," said the former British prime minister, who conferred many times during the war with Stalin.

"Moreover, Premier Stalin's figures do not include Romania." (Dispatches direct from Moscow and a translation as broadcast by Tass, the Russian news agency, included Romania among the countries listed, along with Germany, Austria, Hungary, Bulgaria and Poland, although the original question and answer did not appear to include that former enemy state.)

Churchill's statement, issued through the British press association, said Stalin's figures did not "include the heavy Soviet concentrations in the Leningrad and Odessa regions."

Monday night several display windows in the downtown section were soaped liberally and in some instances the glass in automobiles windshields and in doors, wings and rear vision were daubed.

Studer Speaks To Optimists

The Sedalia Optimist club met today for its Tuesday luncheon with L. L. Studer, Missouri Pacific head storekeeper as the guest speaker. Mr. Studer spoke of his philosophy of life and of the problems that confront us all. The main part of his talk was devoted to a discussion of the people of Mexico, of whom he learned a great deal, having been sent there during the war to help rebuild the Mexican railway system.

Mr. Studer stated that Mexico is a backward country, most of the population being Indian or of that extraction. During the war the average Mexican's living costs have more than tripled. A skillful mechanic being paid only $2.00 per day and unskilled labor earning less than $1 per day.

In concluding his very interesting address, Mr. Studer spoke of the various customs which seem odd to us.

Harry Lambirth introduced the guest speaker.

Introduced today at the meeting were the following new members: Brooks Bapple, Glen Browning, George Dugan, Jr., Merwin Kelland as his guest Major Holland S. Channess and John Van Dyne introduced Ralph "Stub" Dow as his guest.

Students' Trial In December

FULTON, Mo., Oct. 29.—(P)—Thomas Campbell, 22, of Ironton, Mo., and Otto H. Gross, Jr., 22, of Granite City, Ill., sophomores at Westminster college, waived preliminary hearing today on charges of arson in a fire that destroyed the Beta Theta Pi fraternity house early Saturday morning.

W. Pearl Garrett, justice of the peace, continued the students' bonds at $10,000 for trial at the December term of circuit court. Campbell furnished bond and was released. Counsel for Grosse said he expected to furnish bond by night.

Present in the court room were Campbell's mother, Mrs. Nora Campbell, deputy circuit clerk of Iron county, and the other student's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Grosse, Sr.

Those who signed Campbell's bond were R. C. Jones, Iron county circuit clerk; William E. Hall, Iron county collector, and Claude C. Bell of St. Louis, a brother of Campbell's mother.

Hugh P. Williamson, Callaway county prosecuting attorney, said he had the signed statement of Campbell and oral statement of Grosse that they set the fire. He said neither gave a reason for their act.

Williamson said that "in all probability" a third arrest would be made tomorrow. He explained that he had received information leading him to believe a third person was involved. He would give no details.

Price Ceiling Taken Off Ice, Ample Supply

Economist Reports 44 Per Cent Living Dollar is Controlled

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—OPA skidded out from under price control today.

Declaring that the supply is ample to meet all demands, the agency said its action would apply to both natural and manufactured ice, as well as icing services.

The industry does an estimated $260,000,000 worth of business a year.

Meanwhile, OPA issued a 127 page directory listing 3,500 commodity groups decontrolled up to October 15. The price of the directory for anyone interested was put at $3 a copy by the government printing office, with a promise that supplements would be issued to keep up with the accelerated decontrol program ordered by President Truman.

Still Some Control

Even with meat and most other foods and beverages taken out from under ceilings in the last few weeks, Myer Sherman, OPA economist reported today that 44 cents of the average family's cost of living dollar still is under price control. He said this compares with a peak of about 80 cents of the C. O. L. dollar on June 30, 1945.

Sherman listed these items still under ceilings with his estimates as to their percentage of the cost of living: food (sugar, syrup and rice), about 1 per cent; rents, 16; fuel (chiefly coal) 3; clothing, including shoes) 13; house furnishings, 3; and miscellaneous 8.

The economist declined to estimate what a pending decontrol order would do to this table. The order has been promised shortly after November 1.

Sherman said that at the June 30, 1945, peak of price control consumers were spending $102,000,000,000 a year with about $81,700,000,000 going for items under price lids.

No Surrender To J. L. Lewis

By Harold W. Ward
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Despite President Truman's flat dictum that there will be no coal strike, Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug made it clear today that the government has not surrendered to John L. Lewis on his demand for a new coal contract.

By implication, Lewis has threatened a walkout by his 400,000 soft coal miners on November 1—four days before the elections.

Hours after Mr. Truman signalled that the strike threat was banished, a spokesman for Krug told a reporter late last night at Tahoe City, Calif., that Krug's action in arranging a conference between Lewis and Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collislow was "a compliance only with Mr. Lewis' request for a meeting."

Krug, who is on a western inspection tour, had telegraphed Lewis Sunday morning arranging the meeting for Friday.

"Does that telegram mean the government will reopen the coal contract?" a reporter asked.

"It does not say that," the spokesman replied.

The officers of the chapter gave a pretty ceremony entitled "Star Dust Trail." They carried stars on a wand as they rendered a short drill and each officer gave a tribute to the past officers and presented each of them with a gift.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served in the dining room. The tables were very attractive with chrysanthemums, candles and napkins in Star point colors and strips of silver paper with the vari-colored stars symbolic of the "Star Dust Trail." The favors were very clever little figures in dresses of star point colors, holding a music book which carried out the years theme of harmony.

All present enjoyed the evening.

Mrs. E. R. Cross, 209 East Sixth street, entertained the G. T. G. club last Tuesday afternoon at a 1:00 o'clock luncheon.

In the absence of Mrs. Will Maness, president, who is ill, Mrs. Cross presided over the meeting. The afternoon was spent in handwork and conversation.

Mrs. Edna Cole and Miss Faye Creswell of Oklahoma City, were special guests.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. B. F. Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Charley Dilthey, Sr., of Beaman, who lives ten miles west of Pilot Grove, will be married fifty years on November 2.

The Golden wedding anniversary will be celebrated on Sunday, November 3, when open house will be held from 1:30 to 5:00 o'clock during the afternoon.

Mrs. John Merry and children, of St. Louis, will arrive this evening to be guests of Mrs. Merry's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar DeWolfe, 503 South Park avenue. Wednesday Mrs. Merry leaves for Columbia to attend the seventh national alumni conference at Stephens College. She goes as a delegate from the St. Louis Stephens College dinner club.

The Daily Washington Merry-go-Round

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—It is interesting to look over the field of candidates the Republicans have rushed in to run for congress now that they expect a landslide. Fortunately for them but unfortunately for the country some of the voters are not taking the trouble to dig into their records.

Take, for instance, the record of Fred W. Danner, Republican candidate to congress in Akron, Ohio. The average voter does not have the time and inclination to examine documents in the recorder's office in Summit county, Ohio, but if he did some interesting things would develop.

These records show that Mr. Danner, who now seeks to be paid by the federal government, for three years did not even bother to pay his taxes to the federal government. In fact, he did not bother to pay up his back taxes until June 27 of this year—just a few weeks after he was nominated on the Republican ticket. Only at that very late date he finally straightened out his tax record with Uncle Sam.

Meanwhile on Sept. 11, 1939 the collector of internal revenue, being unable to collect $273.71 of back taxes, filed a lien against Danner's property. Then, as further federal taxes remained unpaid, the collector of internal revenue filed seven other tax liens totalling $3,280.22. These included Danner's income tax for 1940, social security taxes for part of 1939, and capital stock tax for 1940.

Though Mr. Danner was unwilling or unable to pay his taxes to the government which he wants to represent in Washington, last spring—when he decided to run for congress—he seemed to have plenty of money. At that time he spent a total of $14,553 on his primary campaign, polling a total of 14,416 votes, or one vote for every dollar spent. He is now reported to be spending even more.

British Envoy Washes Dishes
When British Ambassador Archibald John Clark-Kerr made an unannounced visit to an Iowa farm recently he threw a big scare into friendly farmers by riding on a corn picker.

However, he caused an even bigger sensation when he volunteered to wash the dishes after a meal in the home of his hosts, the parents of 21-year-old Roger Newburn of Webster City, Iowa. Roger is the 4-H club member who invited the ambassador to a meeting at the British embassy in Washington last August.

Roger's father held his breath while the British envoy rode the front end of his corn picker, a dangerous machine that slashes and shucks the ears from cornstalks.

Later Mrs. Newburn was worried when the ambassador insisted on washing the dishes after dinner at the Newburn home.

on something the entire industry should know, called in Idaho ne-Smen and announced the price rise. . . . Washington hostesses are miffed at Ingrid Bergman for vetting their dinner invitations. Opening in Maxwell Anderson's "Joan of Lorraine," Bergman has laid down the rule that she will attend no social functions during her first week here and very few in the second.

Unions Begin To Talk Higher Wages

By James Marlow
WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(P)—The biggest unions—the ones which had the biggest strikes since the war ended—are beginning to talk higher wages again.

Those unions are the CIO auto-workers, the CIO steelworkers and John L. Lewis AFL coal miners.

Their gigantic strikes, coming as they did in the midst of reconversion, tied the country in knots. They'll tie it in knots again if they strike again.

It is not certain they will strike. Wait and see. So far the word "strike" has not been mentioned by the auto-workers, steelworkers or coal miners. At the moment they're talking only of higher wages.

There is a question: Can they afford to strike again any time soon?

The auto-workers went through five lean months of strike, starting in the fall of 1945 and winding up in the early months of 1946. The steelworkers struck one month last winter. The coal miners were out two months last spring.

Root Is Deep

After any lengthy strike in which workers finally win higher wages, it takes them a good while to make up for the income they lost by strike.

The root of what is happening now goes deep, and away back. Four years ago this month the government, for the first time in our history, said an employer could not raise or slash wages without government okay.

In this way the government tied wages into prices. For some months earlier in 1942 the government had put a lid on prices. Thus by controlling wages and prices, the government tried to keep both in line.

But that control of wages and prices is beginning to disappear now. It began to fade after the Japanese surrender when the government did this:

It said an employer could raise wages without government approval, and as much as he wished, if he didn't try to use that wage increase as a reason for raising prices.

If he did, then the government stepped in and, before letting him raise his prices a limited amount, it put a limit on the size of the wage increase he could give.

So to this extent, at least, it still tried to control wages and prices.

In each of the three big strikes mentioned here—Autos, steel, coal—the government had to step in and establish wage limits. It did the same in other big strikes.

But as the months passed the government removed more and more controls from prices and the climax—or the near climax—came this month when President Truman took all controls off meat.

And he did more. He said the end of most of the other government controls would be speeded up. OPA pulled off more price ceilings. That meant more wage controls were ended, because they apply only when workers produce goods that sell under OPA ceilings.

Looking back over these past four years in which the government controlled wages and prices, the union leaders argue: The government was a lot tighter on wages than on prices.

Arguments

They argue: Workers need still higher wages to try to catch up with the much higher prices. They argue that the wage increases granted the recent strikers were not enough.

Industry argues that it is the higher wages that have forced prices up.

The auto workers are starting their demands by asking higher wages from Chrysler, Packard and Hudson.

The steelworkers may not say exactly what they want until December, when their policy committee meets.

John L. Lewis wants to talk about wages with the government, which has been operating the coal mines since May.

Meanwhile, because the government still has price controls on autos, steel, and coal, it still controls wages in those industries.

Postmasters In A Mail Race

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29—(P)—The postmasters of the two Kansas Cities raced each other to see which one could handle air mail the fastest—on the ground—and came up with a claim of a world's record.

Albert H. Gillis, in a mail truck with police escort, made the 3.05 miles from his Kansas City, Kas., postoffice to the Municipal Airport in four minutes, one and one-fourth seconds. Alexander Graham, under the same conditions, made the 2.85 miles to the airport from Kansas City, Mo., postoffice in four minutes, 23 seconds. They raced as a feature of air mail week.

When Gael Sullivan, second assistant postmaster general, was advised of their times he announced in Washington that he would challenge other postoffices to beat the record and if none did he would present Gillis a trophy here Saturday.

Politics-by-the-Book PAC's New Manual Tells Labor's Vote-Getters How to Organize

Practical Political Action: Everything from organization to song writing and buyers' strikes.

By NEA Service

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The National Citizens Political Action Committee has just issued an elaborate "Manual of Political Action" to tell citizens the technique of political activity such as the occupation of the New York State Senate this month by a group of veterans.

The manual is a blueprint doctrine "calculated to help individuals and organizations in their day-to-day practical operations," and it embraces organization, personnel, finance, research, publicity, advertising, literature, and "continuous action in support of issues."

Printed in large, loose-leaf format by the Political Education Department of the National Citizens PAC, it is intended, the editors say in the opening chapter, "for those people of both parties who would make their chosen organizations the vehicles for progress. It is intended for all Americans who recognize the need for stimulating mass political activity."

"But," the editors add, "it is primarily directed at those who work in the local political action committees which have grown out of the national work of the National Citizens Political Action Committee and the Independent Citizens Committee of the Arts, Sciences and Professions; and those who work in the PACs of the CIO organization."

The chapter on organization is "primarily concerned with the building and uses of actual political machinery—mass membership organization devoted to the pursuit of a coherent and continuous program." It tells how to build the ward and precinct organizations, community councils, how racial and national origin factors fit in, describes registration and run-out-the-vote campaigns, mass meetings, and other campaign facets including song writing.

Senate Sit-Down

In the chapter on action on political issues, the manual tells how to write your congressman, how to compete with "big money lobbyists" by making personal contact with your congressman, and gives "case histories" of successful utilization of political action methods, such as:

A mass veterans' rally called "Operation Housing" in which congressmen came to New York for the meeting instead of having the veterans go to Washington.

A sit-down strike in the Massachusetts Senate as a climax of a campaign for passage of the FEPC bill.

Buyers' strike demonstrations, street rallies, rent meetings, radio addresses, and newspaper advertisements.

In anticipation of criticism, the editors of "The Manual of Practical Political Action" have this to say in the opening chapter:

"This is a guidebook for techniques to use in achieving and protecting democracy by awakening consciousness and using it. It will be vilified by those who fear that mass action by the people is dangerous, but it is not a guide to revolution. It is founded in belief that our democratic system of government is workable, practical, necessary. The conditions for revolution are created by those who doubt the wisdom of government by the people, and for the people and obstruct the democratic process."

Forces of Attraction Keep a Comet in its Course...

and OIL-PLATE Your Engine!

BASIC forces of attraction and repulsion keep a comet in its course around the sun. By ceaseless study of the molecular attraction between liquids and solids, Conoco engineers are able to bring America's motorists new and better oils.

For example, under the laws of molecular attraction, a special ingredient in Conoco Nth motor oil is attracted to working surfaces of your engine. So strong is this attraction that cylinder walls and other parts are OIL-PLATED.

And because molecular attraction holds OIL-PLATING up where it belongs... prevents it from all draining down to the crankcase, even overnight... you get these benefits:

- added protection when your engine starts up
- added protection from corrosive action
- added protection from wear that leads to fouling sludge and carbon
- added smooth, silent miles

New Commission An Important Agency

By James Marlow
WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—(P)—Here is an ABC on the five-man atomic energy commission which President Truman named yesterday.

From now on it will be boss of what the government and private industry do with atomic energy.

For that reason it is one of the most important government agencies ever created in this country.

Its job is to lead us intelligently into the atomic age. It will chart the course, lay down the rules, give help.

It will have to see that we keep abreast or ahead of the rest of the world in the use of atomic energy, in a military way and in a civilian way.

It will take over all the government's atomic plants and laboratories, now run by the army.

Will Help Private Industry

It will help private industry develop atomic energy for civilian use and the good of mankind, such as in power plants or in medicine.

It will control information on atomic energy, handing out data on some kinds of atomic energy, keeping other kinds secret.

In short: It's boss of the atom. From the beginning of this. From the beginning of this. The Army and Navy — have been kept subordinate to the civilian government.

The Army developed the atomic bomb and, until now, ran the atomic plants.

Ever since the first bomb hit Hiroshima countless people in this country have expressed this hope: Some way must be found to put civilians in control of atomic energy so the Army and Navy can't do as they please.

This five-man commission is the answer, although perhaps not the absolute answer.

The commission will be boss over what the Army and Navy do, or want to do, with atomic energy.

Special Committee

If the Army or Navy — they'll have their own men, a special committee, in close contact with the commission — don't like a commission decision, they can appeal to the president to override the commission.

He can do that if he wishes. When it's a question of the Army or Navy against the commission, the president's say-so will be final.

Creating the commission is no sudden thing.

A year ago congress set out, through many months of study and debate, to find some way by which the government could control and direct work on atomic energy in this country.

Last August it finally passed a law, laying down the rules. That law told Mr. Truman to pick five outstanding men and set up the commission. He waited until now to do that.

Salary $17,500

Choosing the five men was important. He took his time. David E. Lilienthal, director of TVA (the Tennessee Valley Authority) is chairman. His salary will be $17,500 a year.

The other four commissioners will get $15,000 a year. None of the five can hold any other job or business connection.

Under the commission will be a general manager — salary, $15,000 a year — to carry out the commissioners' decisions and run the show for them.

He, like the five commissioners, has to be appointed by the president and approved by the senate.

Also, there will be four division directors under the commission heading divisions of research, production, engineering and military use.

Other Directors

All four directors will receive $14,000 a year. The director of the military use of atomic energy will be a military man, chosen from the armed services.

In addition there will be a general advisory committee—nine men—named by the president. They'll act as advisors to the commissioners on various problems of atomic energy.

Some day this country may make an international agreement, or treaty, with other countries on the control and development of atomic energy and atomic weapons.

When that day comes, the treaty will be more important than the law under which the five-man commission was created. Any part of the law which would conflict with the treaty would no longer stand.

Which may mean: The five man commission, or its powers, may have to be changed or abolished. But until then the commission is boss.

Veterans Into Business for Second Time

Two young men, who while sailing the ocean as radio operators with the maritime service were partners in business making costume jewelry from metal taken from the battlefields of Europe — are again partners in business. This time they are making concrete vaults in Sedalia. They are John F. Zander and James F. Labahn. Both young men had been in the army prior to entering the maritime service.

Zander, a son of Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Zander of St. Louis, former Sedalia resident here. With his wife, the former Miss Lora Lue Austin, who lived in Independence and their daughter, Terri Lou, he resides at 1415 West Fourth street.

Labahn is a son of Mrs. Margaret Labahn, 1609 South Montau avenue. He operates a turkey farm south of Sedalia on highway 65.

The two purchased the vault business from J. R. Smetana. They are located in the garage building formerly occupied by Elmer Arnold at High Point and highway 65. Included in the purchase of the vault will be service with the burial such as providing a tent, mat rug, apparatus to lower the casket into the grave, etc.

Grain Gains Turn to Losses

CHICAGO, Oct. 28.—(P)—General liquidation hit the grain futures pits today, turning early gains into substantial losses in most cases.

Wheat dropped around 2 cents a bushel at times, and corn and oats more than 2 cents. Although there were occasional rallies in all pits.

Traders said another sharp decline in cotton futures, and a decline in egg futures and commodities generally caused some holders to liquidate their positions.

There were reports that some corn had been purchased to arrive at levels 1 to 2 cents a bushel below yesterday.

The market showed strength early, particularly wheat, influenced by belief that the government and domestic mills would accelerate their cash purchases.

Wheat closed 1 to 1 1/2 cent lower than the previous finish, January $2.03 1/2, corn was off 2 to 2 1/2 cents, January $1.34 to $1.35 1/2, oats were down 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents, November $2 1/2 and barley was unchanged to 1 cent lower, November $1.36.

GOP Meeting At Jefferson, Smith Speaks

The first of a series of meetings to be held in the city, sponsored by the Republican county committee was well attended at the Jefferson school last night.

The meeting was presided over by William A. Campbell, a member of the county committee who was in charge of the program.

Entertainment was old time tunes played by Lee Brandt, Leo Williams, Joe Miller, James Blaylock and Clay Blaylock.

All county candidates were introduced by Carl G. Schrader, county chairman and each spoke briefly.

Judge Smith Speaks

Judge J. E. Smith was the principal speaker. He stressed the importance of each citizen voting and stated:

"In these, our United States, we still have the right to go to the polls and cast our vote for the party or for the man we feel will best serve us. This right to vote is not only a privilege—it is a duty. We must vote to keep alive the right of franchise in America so that we may keep faith with our forefathers who laid the basic foundation of our government when they wrote and adopted the constitution. They knew what it was to live under the iron heel of a despotic ruler. They laid the basic foundation for a government wherein the people could rule by the ballot. They had faith in the future of America. Little did they think that there would ever come a time in America when only about fifty percent of the qualified voters would take the time to go and cast their ballots on election day.

And now we find political machines all over the country herding their subjects to the polls and voting them solidly, while we sit idly by and say 'What's the use to go vote? I'm not interested. We are too busy or some other weak excuse.'

Unless we in this country become awakened to what is happening to us, we are liable to wake up to find ourselves under the iron heel. The lethargy of people has caused more governments to crumble and go to pieces than anything else."

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(P)—The stock market enjoyed a selective early rally today behind steels, rails and industrials but there was little follow through and liquidation in the final hour reversed the general direction.

Mr. Brown said in part: "You have the choice between a definite constructive and progressive program proposed by the Democratic party and its candidates or a group of disgruntled, selfish office seekers whose platform is destructive criticism, vilification, mudslinging and falsification of fact.

At no time in this campaign has the opposition offered a clear plan or program for progress. At no time have any of the opposition candidates other than a selfish desire to hold office.

M. U. Tigers' Prestige is Badly Shaken

Prepare for Game Saturday With the Nebraska Huskers

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29.—(P)—Missouri and Nebraska, a couple of Big Six teams whose fortunes have been somewhat reversed since pre-season predictions were made, knuckled down today for their clash in Saturday's top-notch conference game.

The contest should give a definite picture of how each team stacks up in the league race.

Looked Like Cinch

The Cornhuskers looked like a sure bet for the second division at the season's opening but since then they've shown surprising strength and talent. Missouri's Tigers, on the other hand, were labeled as a top contender for the Big Six crown. But non-conference losses coupled with injuries have shaken their prestige.

At Columbia yesterday, Missouri coach Don Faurot let his somewhat battered Tigers take the day off after their stinging defeat by Southern Methodist. Half a dozen Tigers, hurt in the game with S. M. U. were expected to be back in action again this weekend.

Coach Bernie Masterson showed his Cornhuskers moving pictures of errors in their 27-7 defeat by Indiana, but as yet has announced no special training plans for this week. Center Joe Partington will be game captain against the Missouri team, which like Nebraska, has a conference record of two victories and no losses.

K-State Near Full Strength

Kansas State, near full strength after an open date, was reinforced by addition of seven linemen and three backs from the "B" team as Coach Hobbs Adams prepared for Saturday's joust with Iowa State.

Meanwhile the Cyclones surveyed the injuries accumulated in their 63-0 defeat at the hands of Oklahoma's Sooners. Center Jim Riding, out of action with a fractured vertebra, will be replaced by reserve Carter Kokjer and Quarterback Ed Farni will be replaced by Don Norman. Two

Army Now Holds No. 1 Position

By Bob Grubb

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—(P)—The top trio among the country's football powerhouses — Army, Notre Dame and Penn. — today headed in that order into the last half of the race to decide the 1946 national championship.

And while it appeared more certain than ever that the titanic clash of the Cadets and the Irish here a week from Saturday would all but decide, it also became evident that George Munger's Quakers were going to have their say in the deciding.

Of the 172 scribes casting ballots in this fourth weekly poll, 104 put Army at the head of the list. Sixty-one — 40 more than last week — favored Notre Dame as the No. 1 team. The other seven first place ballots were split among Penn., with four, and UCLA, Georgia and Harvard, with one apiece.

Based on the usual system of ten points for a first place vote, nine for a second, eight for a third, and so on, Army piled up a staggering 1,647 points, 138 more than last week's count. Notre Dame picked up 238 over last week for a 1,578 total. Penn and UCLA were the two other teams to top the 1,000 mark.

How They Stand

Standings of the top teams by first place votes in parenthesis

- 1-Army (104) 1,647.
- 2-Notre Dame (61) 1,578.
- 3-Pennsylvania (4) 1,100.
- 4-UCLA (1) 1,018.
- 5-Georgia (1) 935.
- 6-Northwestern 659.
- 7-Texas 485.
- 8-Rice 465 4-5.
- 9-North Carolina 281.
- 10-Tennessee 191.

The second ten: 11-Illinois, 126; 12-Wake Forest 101 4-5; 13-Michigan, 90 4-5; 14-Oklahoma 83 4-5; 15-Alabama 83 4-5; 16-Georgia Tech, 79 4-5; 17-Harvard (one first place vote) 66; 18-Wisconsin 60; 19-Duke 40; 20-Indiana 34.

Others receiving one or more points included Tulsa 15.

Wild Affair At Wrestling Match Tonight

Orville Brown Will Meet Roy Graham in Re-Match at Armory

Main Event
Roy "Cowboy" Graham vs. Orville Brown
Dallas, Texas vs. Wallace, Kansas
2 falls out of 3. 30-minute time limit.

Semi-Windup
Dan O'Mahony vs. Frank Hewitt
Dublin, Ireland vs. Detroit, Mich.
2 falls out of 3. 45-minute time limit.

Special Event
George "Red" Ryan vs. Joe Szabo
Philadelphia, Pa. vs. Detroit, Mich.
1 fall with a 30-minute time limit.

Place: State Guard Armory.
Time: Tuesday, 8 p. m.
Referee: Dick Bishop, London, England.

The wrestling business at the State Guard armory, sponsored by Pettis County Post No. 16, American Legion, will see a lot of action tonight when Orville Brown, claimant to the heavyweight title, meets Roy "Cowboy" Graham, in the main event. It's a re-match between these two heavies and last week's affair ended in a near riot between the fans and Graham.

Brown insists tonight he will give Graham a needed lesson on the diamond neck hold which he so successfully has used on other wrestlers. Brown's neck isn't exactly built for it and he can take a lot more punishment with his short muscle bound neck than those boys with the "long lanky" necks who are "meat" for Graham's hold.

Because of the "fluke" fall won by Brown, Graham demanded the re-match and the big heavyweight champ is obliging tonight. Frank Hewitt of Toronto, Can., and Dan O'Mahoney, Dublin, Ire., will clash in the semi-windup. This match is booked as a crowd pleaser and should prove entertaining, with a lot of action.

Opening the show will be a special event between George "Red" Ryan of Philadelphia, Pa., and Joe Szabo, Detroit. Szabo needs no introduction to local fans; having appeared here numerous times. But the wrestler always gives the fans their money's worth in the sporting entertainment.

Dick Bishop of London, Eng., will be the third man in the ring tonight. Bishop, himself a heavyweight wrestler, was chosen for tonight's assignment because of his ability to take care of himself, as well as being able to handle the participants in the ring.

Baseball Draft Dying Slow Death

By Joe Reicher

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(P)—It is becoming more apparent each year that baseball's annual selection, more popularly known among the fans as the draft, is dying a slow death due to the growth of the farm system.

With the chain system now in vogue, nearly all of the good prospects in the minors belong to the major league teams, and usually they are draft proof. Before the season's close, the parent clubs "purchase" the contracts of their minor league hirelings, and of course when the annual draft meeting is held most of the players left for selection are those least in demand.

In the lengthy list recently submitted to big league club owners by Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler, there are some 3,000 eligibles for the Friday, Nov. 1, draft selection — largest in years — but it is difficult even for experienced dozens of talent to find half a dozen likely prospects.

The list includes Leroy Parmelee, John Hutchings, Johnny Riddle, Hugh Poland, Bud Metheny, Fred Frankhouse, Tom Sunkel, Pete Gray, Mike Garbark, Luke Hamlin, Jimmy Bucher, Alex Kampouris and Ray Harrell, Cy Buker, Chet Kehn, Don Lund, Les Burge, Garland Laving, Bob Wilkins, Steve Peek and Johnny Moore.

Some of the more opulent clubs have declined to bid for any players. Last year 10 players were chosen. Of these only two, Gene Handley of the Philadelphia Athletics and Mike Budnick of the New York Giants, lasted out the season.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—(P)—If you've wondered why Alabama's Rose Bowl team lost that game to Tennessee and hasn't rolled up any big scores against its other major rivals, the word from Tuscaloosa is "we're still using a 1945 team in a 1946 league."

The Idaho Southern "Bama Rose Bowl" starters still are on the first team while not many of last year's regulars can make the grade at other schools.

University football stadium has been renamed "Spud Bowl." No doubt that's where the opposition will get mashed.

One-Minute Sports Page

Yale's Howie Odell put himself in danger of expulsion from the coaches' Union yesterday when he publicly admitted he thought his team was pretty good, but he saved his membership card by saying that Army and Penn belong in a different league.

John (Hook) Dillon, the North Carolina U. basketballer, reports his old coach, Ben Carnevale, has the best job in the world at the Naval Academy. Ben can't get his squad out to practice until 3:30 and he's off at six—and he lives on the edge of the golf course so he can spend his mornings there.

Six towns with populations of less than 1,000 won 1946 state semi pro baseball championships. One of these was Carmichael, Calif. (pop. 500) which finished second in the national ratings.

Ocean of Poles

Big Jim Poole is back in the National Football League as a standout with the New York Giants; one of his brothers, Ray, stands out just as far at end for Mississippi and another, Barney, is regarded by no less an authority than Jack Lavelle as the best of Army's great pair of ends.

Their cousins, Oliver, a tackle, and Phillip, a guard, also play for Ole Miss and Jackie is with the freshman squad at the same school.

Phil and Jackie are brothers and they have still another brother, Fleming, who is helping out as equipment room assistant at Mississippi while an injured shoulder keeps him from playing.

Jack Mara, the football Giants' boss, hopes to have most of them within a few years—probably, though if he has so many Poles the opposition will be at sea.

Lone Star PTA Has Program

The Lone Star Parent Teacher Association met at the school house with the president, Mrs. H. Billings, in charge. The audience pointed in singing "My Country 'Tis of Thee" accompanied by Genevieve Billings. For a devotional, Mrs. Billings read the 148th Psalm and prayer was led by F. B. Van Dyke. The secretary's report was approved and the treasurer's report showed a balance of $30.70. The next meeting will be held on November 21.

After the business meeting the following program was presented by Helen Anderson:

Violin solo, "Oh! Susannah"—Everett Billings.

Poems, "Call of the Gypsy Autumn" and "My Tribute to Missouri"—Virginia O'Neill.

Piano solo, "Lilac Time Serenade"—Elinor Van Dyke.

Poem—Elmer Van Dyke.

Riddles—Genevieve Billings.

Poem—Helen Anderson.

Following the program, refreshments were enjoyed by all.

Artie Shaw Weds For Fifth Time

EL PASO, Tex., Oct. 29.—(P)—Artie Shaw, band leader, and Kathleen Winsor Harwig, author of "Forever Amber," were married in Juarez, Mexico Monday shortly after each had obtained a divorce.

Shaw, who had previously been married to movie actress Lana Turner, obtained a divorce from Ava Gardner Shaw, movie actress. Mrs. Shaw had obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce from Shaw in a California court Friday. She was once married to screen actor Mickey Rooney.

The present Mrs. Shaw obtained a divorce from Robert John Herwig, former California football star Marine Corps captain.

The marriage, linking the famous player of not music and the author of the best seller, was performed by Judge Raul Orozco of Juarez, with Rocco Jose Theas, Juarez attorney, and Mrs. Roche as witnesses.

Shortly after the ceremony the couple left by automobile for Los Angeles.

It was Shaw's fifth marriage. His first wife was a New York nurse; his second Miss Turner; No. 3 Betty Kern, daughter of composer Jerome Kern. All ended in divorce.

WINGS OF TOMORROW: The Story of Aviation

BY CHARLES TRACY
Aviation editor, Cleveland Press; former Army pilot (Written for NEA Service)

(1) In the decade following the Wright brothers' success, air pioneers hastened to find practical uses for the new mode of transportation. The Wrights demonstrated their plane's possibilities as an express carrier in 1910 by flying 70 pounds of Rajar silk from Dayton to Columbus in Ohio. The shipping cost was $71.42 per pound! The Navy's proud aircraft carriers, so important in the recent war, had their inception in 1910, when Eugene Ely made the first shipboard take-off from the cruiser Birmingham at Hampton Roads. He completed the experiment the next year by landing on the battleship Pennsylvania in San Francisco.

(2) Transcontinental air travel, a routine 12-hour proposition rain or shine today, was a plodding, patience-exhausting task in 1911, when Robert C. Fowler first winged his way from San Francisco to Jacksonville in a few days less than five months. C. P. Rogers went from Brooklyn to Pasadena the same year in flying time of 84 hours, spending nearly two months on the way. Air mail was inaugurated by Earl Ovington in the Blériot monoplane "Dragonfly," on a week's trial basis, between Nassau Boulevard and Mineola, Long Island, New York, in 1911.

(3) Man's wings became weapons as World War I engulfed Europe. Bombing raids by airplanes were carried out first over France and Belgium in 1914. Aerial warfare began when observation pilots dropped bricks on each other. But pistols, rifles and machine guns soon took to the air. Roland Garros, first French air fighter, in 1915 invented the synchronizing gear enabling a machine gun to shoot through the propeller. He downed five enemy planes in 18 days before he crashed behind enemy lines and his invention was captured.

(4) Anthony Fokker, Dutch plane designer, offered his planes to the Allies, but his offer was refused because the importance of air power was underestimated. Later, his D-VII biplane was a definite advantage over such noted Allied craft as the French Spads and the British Sopwiths. The only American-built planes to see combat were British-designed DeHavilland 4's, powered by the famous American Liberty engine. A particular trainer for American pilots was the Curtiss "Jenny." American aces of the war were Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, 26 victories; Frank Luke, 21 victories; and Raoul Lufbery, 17 victories.

THE STORY: Mr. Bartlett has had some jewelry that belonged to his mother. The jewelry was found in the home of a woman who had been a servant in the home of Mr. Bartlett's mother. The jewelry was found in the home of a woman who had been a servant in the home of Mr. Bartlett's mother.

AS in everything pertaining to the house, Bart left the choice of servants entirely up to Gayle. "Just be sure," he warned, "that that handy man of your knows something about cars."

Gayle interviewed a number of possible handy men, and finally selected one who seemed to be a trained primarily as a gardener, but in his younger days he had been a combination chauffeur and butler for a couple of years. Gayle warned him that he could expect all his abilities to be put to full use, and he replied quietly that he would be glad to use them all. He was a man nearer fifty than forty. "I'm rush me, I'll do good; but when I'm rushed," he shook his head. "I'll try not to rush you," she promised. "Anyhow, we'll give each other a try."

She was a little dubious about the housemaid she employed but not worried about her. There were many to choose from, and if the girl did not prove satisfactory, it would be easy to replace her. The cook, however, seemed to matter. She had to have a first-class cook, and she made up her mind not to stop until she found one. She and Bart would have many dinner guests, many house guests, and so the cook was of paramount importance.

To her delight and astonishment she employed the first woman she interviewed, and she felt confident she had found a treasure.

"There's a woman here now,"

Lightning Oddity

A bolt of lightning unhit a team of horses from the farm wagon of G. W. Park, Kidder, Wis., and the horses bolted for home, leaving Mr. Park to walk home.

Riddle Solved

Bird-banding at last has solved the riddle of where chimney swifts spend the winter, namely, in the South American republic of Peru. Some old-time naturalists went so far as to say the birds hibernated in the mud at the bottom of streams.

Jet-Propelled Fish

Jet propulsion was used by fish long before man ever hit upon the idea. Fast-swimming ocean species increase their speed by ejecting water, rocket-fashion, through the gill openings.

If there were no atmosphere around the earth, darkness would settle the moment that the sun disappeared below the horizon.

Rotary Has Its Meeting At Ionia Monday

L. L. Studer In
Address Speaks On Community Life

Sedalia Rotarians held their rural acquaintance meeting Monday night at Ionia and enjoyed a banquet at the Methodist church there served by the Women's Society of Christian Service of that church. Mrs. Homer Howe was chairman of the banquet feature. The address of the evening was given by L. L. Studer and the session was presided over by J. U. Morris, president of the Rotary club. The program presided over by Milton J. Hinlein, program chairman. James Denny led in community singing with Mrs. Nellie Monegan, pianist and the invocation was given by the Rev. Asa Pitchford, Methodist minister at Ionia. Old time songs were rendered by a double quartet composed of Don Lamm, Fred Brink, Ed Martin, Lee Peabody, Lawrence Barnett,

Refused To Sell The Shirt Off His Back

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Oct. 29.—(AP)—Wilbur Dunnington knew there was a shortage of white shirts, but he didn't know it had come to this. Wearing one, a pre-war model, he walked into a clothing store. A clerk eyed the garment, offered to buy it, explaining "I'm all out of shirts myself." Dunnington didn't sell it.

Lyle Brown, Dick Snow and Jess Griffin. Two solo numbers were presented by James Denny and Edwin Martin.

Mr. Studer in his address said: "I am very glad to bring to you a brief message from the Sedalia Rotary Club as a part of this Rural Acquaintance Program and we want you to know that we consider it a signal honor to convene with you in Ionia tonight. The members of our Rotary Club are deeply concerned in the progress and the welfare of this community and its farm territory. They want to see its schools and churches and farm organizations and community life developed and expand and prosper to make it a better place in which to live, and as Rotarians we are committed to the principle that we have failed in our responsibility to the communities in which we live if we do not give our full measure of devotion and loyalty to every agency which has for its function the betterment of the better and the finer and the nobler things of life. I am quite sure that some of you are wondering tonight—What is this thing called 'Rotary'?—What does it have for sale? Why does it come to this community tonight, and this prompts me to say to you that we are just here to break bread with you, to get better acquainted with you, and we haven't anything to sell—except friendship, cooperation and good will. Rotary is the greatest exponent in all the world of the international brotherhood of men and international good will."

Good Will An Asset
We believe that good will is the only asset that competition cannot undersell or destroy. We believe that the most precious thing that can come to us in life as an individual or an industry is the good will of others. Its as fragile as an orchid—and as beautiful. Its as precious as a gold nugget—and as hard to find. Its as powerful as a great turbine—and as difficult to build. Its as wonderful as youth, and as hard to keep. Its one of the most precious attributes in life and when once it is lost it is not easily regained, and in that kind of a spirit of good will, we come to this community tonight. The Sedalia Rotary Club is composed of (72) business and professional men and it may interest you to know that it is just one unit of a great international organization which was formed in Chicago (41) years ago and now embraces a membership of 280,000 men. It has no creed or politics or secret passwords or rituals. It is composed of the high and the low, the rich and the poor, made up of a great cavalcade of Gentiles and Jews and Catholics and Protestants, united in a common cause and dedicated to the principle that he profits most who serves best. As a world wide organization, it is always sympathetic, it banishes self-conceit, it abrogates egotism, it teaches the principle of service above self, it advocates the international brotherhood of men, it teaches the principle of the golden rule and it always concedes to all men the right to their own views and opinions. The object of Rotary is to encourage and foster the ideal of service as the basis of all worthy enterprise. High ethical standards in business and professions. The development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service."

Worth While Objectives
The recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations and the dignifying by each Rotarian of his occupation as an opportunity to serve society and finally, the advancement of understanding, good will and international peace through a world wide fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service. A man said to his friend, "Where is Rotary going," and his friend answered, "The Nap Touch."

It has consistently stood, back through the years, for a cleaner and better and happier community life. It does not indulge in anything that is off color. It has from its inception been as clean as the wind swept summits that look up into the face of the eternal. It is the kind of a service organization that gets all tied-up in the community heartstrings and makes you feel that because you have been associated with it, that the community has seemed, just a little better place in which to live. And this we hope will give to our guests tonight some small conception of the heights and the depths of this thing that we call "Rotary." Studer, then launched into a series of what he termed "American Characteristics" and stated he would leave them with his audience with the hope that the lessons

Some Confusion Over Eisenhower's Statement

By James Marlow
WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—(AP)—There was a little confusion for a while here yesterday. Had General Dwight D. Eisenhower meant to tell a news conference that General Omar N. Bradley would succeed him as army chief of staff? If he had, then—When was General Eisenhower getting out? And why?

But this seems to have been straightened out. General Eisenhower said he wasn't making predictions.

There have been rumors here—strictly rumors which may not become facts—that:

1. General Eisenhower would resign as army chief of staff and be named ambassador to Great Britain by President Truman.
2. That General Bradley, now head of the veterans administration, would succeed Eisenhower as chief of staff.
Bradley on Leave (Bradley has been on leave from the army since Mr. Truman asked him to head the veterans administration for a while to untangle its affairs. (The job of ambassador to Great Britain has been open since Mr. Truman took W. Averell Harriman out of there and made him secretary of commerce.) Because the chief of staff job is the highest in the army, here is an explanation of what it is and how it got that way. Until 1903 the top army man was called the general commanding the army. In 1903, by law, congress created the chief of staff job.

This was done to smooth out the work of the army and the war department.

Chief of staff means chief of the army staff of the commander-in-chief, the president.

So that military men will be subordinate to civilians in this country, the chief of staff operates under the civilian secretary of war. When the chief of staff job is to be open, the war department recommends to the president a candidate or candidates for the job.

The president can suit himself about this: Follow the recommendation or pick his own chief of staff. But the senate must approve. The term of the chief of staff is four years. Eisenhower was appointed by President Truman Nov. 19, 1945. His term is up Nov. 19, 1949.

Whoever is president then can re-appoint Eisenhower—if he's still there—or appoint someone else in his place.

If Eisenhower stayed in the army but was not reappointed as chief of staff, he probably would retire. He could do that now, if he wished.

Anyone with rank of major general or higher—Eisenhower has the title of general of the army, the highest rank—must retire when he is 64. Eisenhower could retire (Brigadier generals, one grade below major generals, must retire at 62. Colonels and lower must retire at 60.) General Eisenhower is only 56. But anyone with 30 years service in the army can retire when he wishes. Eisenhower has had 31 years' service. So he could retire now. For that matter, so could Gen. Bradley. Bradley, 53 years old and a classmate of Eisenhower at West Point, also has had 31 years' service.

General George C. Marshall—whom Eisenhower succeeded—was chief of staff longer than anyone since congress made the job in 1903.

He held it a little longer than six years, from Sept. 1, 1939 until Eisenhower took over in November, 1945.

Marshall was over 64, the retirement age, when he quit, but he had been kept on because he was chief of staff all through the war. Although no longer chief of staff, Marshall still is on active service with the army but that was because: President Truman asked him to go to China as his special representative to try to get the warring Chinese Nationalists and Communists to make peace. He's still there.

that they teach may draw us just a little closer to this Rotary Club, your farm organization, our community and our jobs. The speaker then painted a word picture of conditions in Old Mexico, based upon his experience of three years in Mexico during the war. "The Mexican people," he stated, "are a backward, most gracious people, and it is a great tribute to their integrity that they have progressed like they have since the year 1929 and since that time Mexico has struggled uphill toward democracy and towards a better life for its people." "The entire farm population," he stated, "is composed of Indians, and because they have been exploited back through the years and have lacked training and education, they are a most backward people, but every effort is now being made to improve their welfare." "The Mexican farmer," he stated, "thinks only of today and is not concerned with tomorrow. They won't have to urge him not to cultivate all of his land because—he won't cultivate it anyway—except to produce just enough for his own family."

Corn Supply Short
"They have been urging them for years to increase the production of corn because to Mexicans, corn is the staff of life. Their National food, called 'Tortillas,' is made exclusively of corn and their supplies of corn are critically short and large quantities have to be imported annually from the United States." The speaker closed with the statement—"It has been a real pleasure for Rotary to have you as our guests tonight. We are not unmindful that you have your problems just as we have them. We want to be helpful to you in the solution of your problems and we are hopeful that out of such community gatherings as this may come a better understanding of our mutual problems and may be instrumental in helping us to build a strong and dependable spirit of confidence and good will between
